PAPER CUPS

CATALOGUE

PE-COATING: LESS THAN 5% PLASTIC.

Our paper cups feature a thin PE (polyethylene) coating, making them resistant to liquids and suitable for both hot and cold beverages. With less than 5% plastic, our cups comply with the new European regulations for products with minimal plastic content, making them a more sustainable choice.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR : THE USE OF CUPS WITH PE COATING

KEY ASPECTS OF THE NEW EU REGULATIONS:

1. Separate Collection of Cups

Used cups must be collected separately to ensure they can be recycled. It is not allowed to mix these cups with general waste. This requires the establishment of a dedicated waste stream at locations where these cups are used, such as businesses, events, or the hospitality industry.

2. Record-Keeping Requirements

Companies and organizations using paper cups with a PE coating are required to:

- o Register usage and collection: How many cups are ordered, used, and collected?
- o Provide accountability for how the waste is processed: This can be achieved by collaborating with a certified waste processor who can supply the necessary data.

3. Why These Regulations?

The regulations aim to reduce the environmental impact of plastic-containing products, improve recycling, and prevent waste. By collecting cups separately, the materials can be recycled more effectively, contributing to a circular economy.

PE-COATING: LESS THAN 5% PLASTIC.

Solutions for Your Organization:

- Place Collection Bins: Set up clear collection points with instructions.
- Engage a Waste Processor: Collaborate with a company specialized in recycling coated paper cups.
- Raise Awareness: Inform your customers about the regulations and the importance of proper waste separation.

Please be aware that these are new EU regulations, but each country may apply them differently. We recommend checking with the local government in your area to ensure compliance with the specific requirements in your country.
